

Focused Consultation

Do you go it alone when it comes to important decisions and initiatives in your organisation?

What does consultation mean to you?

It might mean:

- check with
- seek advice from
- confer with
- sound out
- solicit opinion

Or, does it mean being charged the earth to find out what you already know?

Many organisations use consultants to help them with a vast range of business issues, problems, strategy development, HR challenges and much more.

Having outside help, bringing along independent observers, working with someone with your best business interests at heart, is a wise move for any organisation.

It's easy to get stuck in the daily grind of the business, facing challenges, beating off the opposition and generating more questions than answers.

At Clarity Coaching we believe in consultation that takes the lid off your way of thinking, brings you a fresh outlook and takes you to a new window on your business world.

We help you to look past the obvious, challenge the inevitable and seek out a whole new horizon. Take a deep breath – the future just got fresher!

Whatever your business, industry or product, we all know that you can't stand still and expect to gain ground.

The definition of insanity is doing the same thing over and over again and expecting the same result!

Our aim is to help you gain real insight into the value of careful consultation.

There is an old American Native saying that to know a man, or a woman, you should walk a mile in their shoes.

Well, at Clarity Coaching we are not deterred by the size or the style (or the pong!) of the shoes we step into.

We will get to know your managers and your organisation, walk alongside you, step into your shoes, really see what your business is about and understand the issues you face.

There is no need to stagger on alone!

The secrets to great consultation are:

- insightful questions
- careful listening
- focus on the key issues
- objective thinking
- clarity of purpose
- trust and openness

It's also important for you to know that the consultants you are dealing with have been there, worn the tee-shirt out, watched the video to death, had all the nasty headaches, done the hard work and, in the end, found the right solutions!

And, believe us, at Clarity Coaching we have a pretty impressive track record of corporate and people management experience!

Our approach is refreshingly different. We work in partnership with you, as if we belonged to your organisation, because your success is our success!

We look really closely at your problems, we listen carefully, we push and challenge you, we ask the right questions, we help you to explore options and face up to reality.

They say that a problem shared is a problem halved – in our language, a problem shared, and fully understood, is a problem solved!

Working in partnership with you, we don't just make recommendations, we help you to get your creative juices flowing, think things through, have your own "ha ha!" moments and create your own agenda for change.

Certainly, we will make recommendations but it's more important to us that you become the masters of your own destiny.

So what? What does all of this mean for you and your organisation?

Our track record in individual assessments, coaching, training, workshops, facilitating and professional management puts us in a position of knowing what the solutions are and what is smart!

Quite simply, it means that we are passionate about what we do and we believe in the amazing potential of people.

Keep it smart and simple – that's our philosophy.

Whether you are:

- struggling with performance issues
